Lillian Seymore is an investigator and Tester Coordinator for The John Marshall Law School Fair Housing Legal Clinic. Ms. Seymore has studied at the University of Illinois, Chicago. She received a Master of Arts Degree in Human Development with emphasis in Urban Teacher Education from Governors State University. She also received a Type 75 Education Administrators Certificate from Chicago State University.

She was formerly a teacher and an administrator in the Chicago Public Schools system. While working for the school system, she assisted in the implementation of The Desegregation Consent Decree between the Chicago Board of Education and The United States Department of Justice. Ms. Seymore retired after serving 35 years in the school system. Now serving as Testing Coordinator for The John Marshall Law School Fair Housing Legal Clinic, Ms. Seymore received training from two leading experts in the field of Fair Housing, F. Willis Caruso and Michael P. Seng, Co-Executive Directors of The John Marshall Law School Fair Housing Legal Support Center. She is responsible for the recruitment and training of all testers for The Clinic. Additionally, she lectures at many of the Center's conferences and has served as trainer at many HUD sponsored National Training Conferences.
