

THE JOHN MARSHALL LAW SCHOOL

Copyright Infringement Policy

- 1. Copyright Infringement Policy: Unauthorized copying or distribution of copyrighted material violates the U.S. Copyright Act as well as John Marshall's Technology Use Policies. These policies, among other things, prohibit illegal downloading and sharing of copyrighted material over the John Marshall network, including through the use of email, web pages, and peer-to-peer file-sharing software. This prohibition applies to all computers and mobile devices accessing the John Marshall network, whether owned by John Marshall or personally owned by a community member. Before downloading or sharing any material over the John Marshall network, members of the community should ensure they have the legal right to do so.

John Marshall's responsibility under the law is to respond expeditiously to remove, or disable access to, the material that is claimed to be infringing. The policies for Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA) complaints are as follows:

- a. The first time that ITS receives a DMCA complaint for a student, ITS will send a notice to the student, requiring the student to make an appointment to meet with the Director of Library & Technology within a specified period of time. The student will be required to remove or block access to any materials identified as infringing copyright in the DMCA notice, as well as any other infringing material, and certify in writing that he or she has done so. If ITS does not receive a response to its violation notice within the specified time, ITS will suspend the student's access to the John Marshall network.
- b. If ITS receives subsequent DMCA complaints for the same student, ITS will suspend network access for the student and refer the matter to Associate Dean of Student Affairs for disciplinary action. Details regarding the first complaint will be provided and taken into account in any disciplinary sanction. ITS will only restore network access upon the request of the Associate Dean for Student Affairs.
- c. These policies apply to faculty, staff and other authorized users, as well as students. If ITS receives a DMCA complaint for a faculty member, the matter will be referred to the Associate Dean for Faculty Affairs. If ITS receives a DMCA complaint for a staff member or other authorized user, the matter will be referred to the individual's department head, supervisor or, for guests, primary faculty or staff contact, and the General Counsel and Assistant Dean for Human Services.

The ITS department also employs the following technology-based deterrents to the unauthorized copying and distribution of copyrighted material: (1) dropping traffic associated with common peer-to-peer file sharing protocols on the John Marshall network, (2) tracing illegal activity to specific users on the John Marshall network, including its wireless network, in response to DMCA complaints, and (3) random reviews of high bandwidth usage on the John Marshall network.

The John Marshall Law School is committed to upholding copyright law and deterring infringement, and it strongly encourages the use of legal alternatives to illegal file sharing. For a comprehensive list of legal sources of online content, visit the EDUCAUSE website.

- 2. Summary of Civil and Criminal Penalties for Violation of Federal Copyright Laws: Copyright infringement is the act of exercising, without permission or legal authority, one or more of the exclusive rights granted to the copyright owner under § 106 of the Copyright Act (Title 17 of the U.S. Code). These rights include the right to reproduce or distribute a copyrighted work. In the file-sharing context, downloading or uploading substantial parts of a copyrighted work without authority constitutes an infringement.

Penalties for copyright infringement include civil and criminal penalties. In general, anyone found liable for civil copyright infringement may be ordered to pay either actual damages or "statutory" damages affixed at not less than $750 and not more than $30,000 per work infringed. For "willful" infringement, a court may award up to $150,000 per work infringed. A court can, in its discretion, also assess costs and attorneys' fees. For details, see Title 17, U.S. Code, §§ 504, 505.

Willful copyright infringement can also result in criminal penalties, including imprisonment of up to five years and fines of up to $250,000 per offense.
